Business Arising from the Minutes

COMMUNICATIONS BETWEEN THE SENATE AND THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS

President Toope advised the Senate that he and the Chair of the Board of Governors had recently launched a review of Board processes and procedures, and that the review would include communications between the Board and the Senate. The President indicated that he would deliver a progress report to the Senate at either the February or March Senate meetings.

Remarks from the Chair and Related Questions

2007/2008 UBC BUDGET

President Toope gave an update on the University’s budget picture for 2007/2008. While earlier predictions were for a budget shortfall in the amount of $28 million, the amount had been revised to $36 million. One of the reasons for this increase was the settlement of a salary grievance filed by the Association of Administrative and Professional Staff (AAPS). The University estimated that the settlement would entail a one-time charge of approximately $6 million and a recurring charge of approximately $3 million. An additional reason for the increase of the budget shortfall related to revised expectations with respect to royalty income.

The President noted that any recurring budget reductions must take place within the context of a robust academic plan. Units would be asked to focus on one-time cuts for 2007/2008, which would allow time for strategic planning about how to allocate cuts over the longer term. The proposal before the Board of Governors included a mix of targeted reductions and plans for increasing income. The President noted that broad community consultation was among the next steps prior to Board approval, and that more detailed information would be available on the UBC website within the week.

In response to a question from Dr. Rhodri Windsor-Liscombe, President Toope stated that although the University-wide hiring “chill” would soon be lifted, individual units might opt to extend hiring restrictions as a way to absorb the one-time 2007/2008 cut.

In response to a question from Dr. Friedrichs about whether the University had reconsidered funding for several initiatives announced at President Toope’s installation, President Toope clarified that both the funding for a pilot project involving matching post-doctoral fellows with researchers in undergraduate classrooms and funding for the SHINE 2010 initiative were to be derived from the TREK Endowment. These initiatives would not draw on the University’s operating budget. President Toope added that he was pleased to see some of the endowment funding focused on research and teaching.

In response to a question from Mr. Brady about the AAPS salary grievance, President Toope stated that a salary survey had indicated that UBC management and professional staff had been compensated at approximately 30 percent of market value for their services, as opposed to the desired 50 percent. President Toope noted that the survey had been conducted as part of earlier negotiations between that University and AAPS, and that he did not have at hand details about which markets the survey had measured.

CAMPUS 2020

President Toope noted that Mr. Geoff Plant was expected to deliver his report on the Campus 2020 planning initiative within the following several months. Consultations had been held across the province. The President stated that the University had presented a brief as part of consultation with The University President’s Council of British Columbia (TUPC). The brief advocated for recognition of UBC’s preeminent position in the province with respect to research and teaching, and how post-secondary education policy might best address that preeminence.

The President noted that the release of Mr. Plant’s report would be an important moment for the University as well as for the post-secondary education sector. President Toope stated that the University was in discussion with Mr. Plant, as well as the provincial and federal governments about appropriate funding levels.
FACULTY OF COMMERCE & BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (SAUDER SCHOOL OF BUSINESS)

President Toope was pleased to announce that the Social Science Research Network had recently ranked the Faculty of Commerce and Business Administration (also known as the Sauder School of Business) as its Top Business School in Canada for management and research. The Faculty was ranked eighth among internationals business schools (not including U.S. institutions).

GIFT FROM THE LAW FOUNDATION

The President was pleased to note that the University had recently received a gift in the amount of $6 million from the Law Foundation. The $6 million grant was to contribute to a new building to house the Faculty of Law, the Law Library, the Law Students Legal Advice Program (LSLAP) and the British Columbia Law Institute -- a public resource that focuses on law reform -- and support for other UBC Law faculty and student-led initiatives.

MUSQUEAM MEMORANDUM OF AFFILIATION

The President reported that the University and the Musqueam Indian Band Council had recently signed an historic Memorandum of Affiliation to further the sharing of knowledge and the advancement of Musqueam and Aboriginal youth and adults in post-secondary education. The memorandum lays out a process to expand and create programs that encourage Aboriginal youth to pursue post-secondary education while enhancing the relationship between the UBC and Musqueam communities.

TRIP TO SOUTHEAST ASIA

President Toope reported that he was about to embark on his first major trip to Southeast Asia as UBC President. He planned to visit partner universities in the region, including the National University of Singapore and Hong Kong University. The President also planned to meet with UBC alumni and other friends of the University.
RECIPIENTS OF HONOURARY DEGREES

President Toope announced that the following individuals had accepted the University’s invitation to accept an honourary degree at an upcoming UBC convocation. The degrees were to be conferred at a ceremony in 2007, unless otherwise noted:

- Michael Bliss
- Robert Davidson
- David A. Dodge
- Mike Harcourt

GREAT NORTHERN WAY CAMPUS -- MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING CONCERNING ACADEMIC GOVERNANCE AND ADMINISTRATION OF DEGREE PROGRAMS

The Committee had circulated a proposed memorandum of understanding (with three appendices) between four partner institutions and the Great Northern Way Campus. An excerpt of the Committee’s report follows.

As Senators will recall, at its 16 October 2006 meeting Senate approved in principle the Academic Governance and Administration of Degree programs at the Great Northern Way campus (GNWC) by the following resolution:

“The Senate approves the general principles set out in the report entitled Academic Governance and Administration of Degree Programs with the proviso that Senate have ongoing oversight and right of approval for all academic programs, courses, regulations, and policies applicable to students who are candidates for degrees offered in part by the UBC at the GNWC.”

This report concerns the draft Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) and associated appendices that elaborate upon those principles to provide a more defined structure for academic programs to be offered at GNWC. The draft MOU and appendices have been developed and circulated to representatives from each institution for informal review. Internally, in addition to their review and recommendation by the Academic Policy Committee, consultation has been conducted with the Committee of Deans, and the MOU and appendices have been reviewed extensively by the Office of the Provost, the Faculty of Graduate Studies and the Office of the University Counsel.

As Senate required ongoing oversight and approval for academic programs and policies, this is met by the following in the MOU and appendices:

- New degree programs at GNWC in which UBC participates, and any substantial changes to an existing degree program in which UBC participates, must be approved by Senate. (See MOU Section 3.6)
- Appendix 1, Policy on Admissions and Program Requirements, uses existing Senate approved policy as a template. All admission requirements meet the UBC minimum.
- Any changes to Appendix 1, Policy on Admissions and Program Requirements, will be made, where practicable, in accordance with generally applicable policies and procedures of the 4 partner institutions. (See MOU Section 5.2b)
• Final recourse for academic appeals will be heard by the UBC Senate Committee for Appeals on Academic Standing (See MOU Section 5.2c and Appendix 2)

• Final recourse for admissions appeals will be heard by the UBC Senate Admissions Committee (See MOU Section 5.2c and Appendix 2)

• Appendix 2, Code of Student Conduct and Discipline, uses existing Senate approved UBC policy as a template.

• Any changes to Appendix 2, Code of Student Conduct and Discipline, will be made, where practicable, in accordance with generally applicable policies and procedures of the 4 partner institutions. (See MOU Section 5.3b)

• Final recourse for student conduct and discipline appeals will be heard by the UBC Senate Committee on Student Appeals on Academic Discipline (See MOU Section 5.3c and Appendix 2)

The Committee has received assurances that there is no negative budgetary impact for UBC from this proposal. UBC and the other partner institutions will:

• Benefit by receiving a faculty position at no cost. (See MOU Section 4.1f).

• Be reimbursed for the cost of any good or service provided to GNWC (See MOU Section 5.9)

Approval of this MOU and appendices will enable the consideration of the Master of Digital Media (MDM) according to UBC’s standard curriculum approval process. To date, the MDM Curriculum Proposal has been to the following bodies for review and approval:

• Approved by GNWC MDM Steering Committee in May, 2006

• Approved in principle by GNWC Academic Committee in May, 2006

• Approved by GNWC Academic Committee for formal consideration by academic departments at the GNWC institutions July, 2006

• Reviewed by the Faculty of Arts Curriculum Committee January, 2007

• Reviewed by the Faculty of Graduate Studies Curriculum Committee January, 2007

• Reviewed by the Faculty of Arts Graduate Council January 2007

• To be reviewed by the Graduate Council January 2007

• To be considered by the Senate Curriculum Committee February 2007

• To be considered by the Senate February 2007

As such, the Committee is pleased to recommend the following to Senate:

“That Senate approves the Memorandum of Understanding Concerning Academic Governance and Administration of Degree Programs and the attached Appendices 1 & 2, with the proviso that Appendix 3, the GNWC Strategic Academic Plan, will be updated..."
VANCOUVER SENATE
MINUTES OF JANUARY 24, 2007

and return to Senate for consultation and information within 2 years time.”

NB: The Appendices to the MOU are as follows:

Appendix 1: Policy On Admissions And Program Requirements
Appendix 2: Code of Student Conduct and Discipline
Appendix 3: GNWC Strategic Academic Plan (for information)

Dr. P. G. Harrison
Dr. Windsor-Liscombe

That Senate approves the Memorandum of Understanding Concerning Academic Governance and Administration of Degree Programs and the attached Appendices 1 & 2, with the proviso that Appendix 3, the GNWC Strategic Academic Plan, will be updated and return to Senate for consultation and information within 2 years time.

Carried.

Upon recognition by the Chair, Vice-President Pavlich, who was attending the meeting in his capacity as President of Great Northern Way Campus, stated that he was confident that UBC would be proud of the graduates of the forthcoming Master of Digital Media program. He thanked everyone who had worked to bring the MOU forward for approval in record time, particularly those in the Dean’s offices in the Faculty of Arts and the Faculty of Graduate Studies and the members of the Academic Policy Committee. President Toope added his thanks on behalf of the Senate.

Admissions Committee

Committee Chair Dr. Berger presented the reports.

CALENDAR ADMISSIONS CHANGES: BACHELOR OF EDUCATION (SECONDARY), BACHELOR OF COMMERCE, FACULTY OF FORESTRY

The Committee had circulated proposed changes to the above-mentioned programs and Faculty.
Discussion

Mr. Ahmed raised a concern about point 11 of the Calendar entry, which stipulated that a student who had been required to withdraw must complete at least 12 credits of UBC-transferable post-secondary courses at another institution. He noted that it would be difficult for upper-level students to find transferable courses, and that this might not be a reasonable expectation if the student was in difficult family, medical, or financial circumstances.

Dr. Marshall noted that standards varied across Faculties, with this proposed policy falling somewhere between the least and most stringent variations. Dr. Marshall also stated that very few upper-level students were required to withdraw. Dr. Young stated that he was aware of several cases where upper-level students had been required to withdraw and he agreed that it was very difficult for these students to find transferable courses.
Amendment

With the consent of the meeting, the first sentence of point 11 was amended to begin (addition in bold), “Students who are required to withdraw for academic reasons from the Faculty of Forestry...”

Mr. Taddei pointed out that it might also be necessary to amend point 10 to ensure consistent use of the terms “withdraw” and “withdraw for academic reasons.” Mr. Ahmadian expressed concern about the amendment, noting that he found it difficult to identify a reason for withdrawal that was not academic in nature. He also advocated for a less rigid policy that could be tailored to the individual needs of students, e.g., international students.

Amendment

With the consent of the meeting, the second sentence of point 11 was amended as follows (addition in bold), “During this year, students are normally required to complete at least 12 credits...”

Motion to Refer

Ms. Eom
Mr. Brady

That the proposed changes to advancement requirements in the Faculty of Forestry be referred to the Admissions Committee for further consideration.

The motion to refer failed.

Resume Debate on Main Motion

Dr. P. G. Harrison noted that requirements in the Faculty of Science were stricter for junior students than for senior students. He suggested that the Faculty of Forestry might consider a similarly graduated approach. Dr. Marshall indicated that he would not be opposed to further consideration by the Admissions Committee.

By consent of the meeting, the matter was referred to the Admissions Committee.

Committee Chair Dr. Windsor-Liscombe presented the reports.

Terms of Reference for the Admissions Committee

In order to adjust a perceived imbalance of representation when considering student appeals, the Nominating Committee proposed that the terms of reference of the Admissions Committee be modified to read as follows.

MEMORIAL MINUTE FOR DR. DAVID V. BATES

The Committee had circulated the following memorial minute.

DAVID V. BATES

Dr. David V. Bates served on Senate as Dean of the Faculty of Medicine from 1972 to 1977. He was Professor Emeritus in the Department of Medicine (Respiratory) and Department of Health Care & Epidemiology.

Dr. Bates received his medical training from Cambridge University. Prior to coming to UBC, Dr. Bates was a Senior Lecturer in Medicine at St. Bartholomew's Hospital and the University of London, and was an Associate Dean at McGill University from 1956 to 1972.

After retiring from UBC in 1987, he continued to be a very active member of the academic community. His area of expertise included occupational and environmental medicine, specializing in respiratory disease related to air pollutants. Dr. Bates was a recipient of many awards, including The Queen's Jubilee Medal, the Connaught Award (Canadian Lung Association), the Trudeau Gold Medal, the Ramazzini Medal, and the Order of Canada. The Environmental and Occupational Health assembly of the American Thoracic Society honoured Dr. Bates on the occasion of his 80th birthday by establishing the David Bates Award. This award is given annually to a research trainee in recognition of the importance Dr. Bates placed on mentoring and supporting young investigators.

Dr. Bates served on a number of boards and committees in the academic and scientific communities. He was chair of the BC Royal Commission on Uranium Mining and of the US EPA Science Advisory Board Task Force on Electromagnetic Fields. He was a member of the Board of Environmental Studies and Toxicology, National Academy of Sciences, USA and the Science Council of Canada.

Dr. Bates is survived by his children and grandchildren.

That the memorial minute for Dr. David V. Bates be spread on the Minutes of Senate and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased. Carried.

Ad hoc Committee to Review U21 Global

Committee Chair Dr. Helsley presented the report. He summarized the University’s participation to date in both Universitas 21 (an academic consortium) and U21 Global (a joint commercial venture involving 20 U21 member institutions). UBC had made the minimum initial investment in U21 Global of $500,000 USD, as well as several subsequent investments. The agreement between UBC and U21 Global was complex, and involved among other things the licensing of the UBC crest for use on U21 Global diplomas and other documents. In return for their investment in U21 Global, partner institutions had the opportunity to participate in the market for global online education, and as a secondary consideration they could have expected a financial return on their respective investments.
Dr. Helsley gave an overview of U21 Global operations to date. Two online master’s degrees were available: the Master of Business Administration (launched in 2003) and the Master of Management in Information Technology (launched in 2006). Several diplomas and certificates were also offered. Dr. Helsley noted that the UBC crest had also been used to market other kinds of programs, including executive education in India.

As part of its work, the ad hoc Committee had consulted the University Counsel about whether it was possible to withdraw from U21 Global and how that might be accomplished. The Committee determined that withdrawal was possible, but not simple. The University would attempt to sell its shares in U21 Equity -- although there was no market for these shares -- and also terminate the licensing agreement. Following termination of the licensing agreement, U21 Global would retain the right to use the UBC crest for the following three years.

The Committee had determined that, while there were benefits associated with retaining membership in Universitas 21, there appeared to be no reason to continue to participate in U21 Global. Dr. Helsley reported that there had been no involvement to date by UBC faculty in U21 Global educational activities. Furthermore, there had been no opportunity for the University to benefit from U21 Global software, due to licensing restrictions. The initial expectation of financial return on investment had been unrealistic. While President Piper had been instrumental in the establishment of performance standards for U21 Global, U21 Global was clearly not meeting those standards.
The Committee made the following recommendations:

1. That Senate recommend to the Board of Governors that if the 2006 performance standards specified by President Piper are not met, then UBC make no further investments in U21Global.

2. That Senate recommend to the Board of Governors that if the 2006 performance standards specified by President Piper are not met, then UBC withdraw from U21Global.

3. That the ad hoc Committee for the Review of U21Global be dissolved.

AMENDMENTS

In response to discussion, Recommendations 1 and 2 were amended to delete “if the 2006 performance standards specified by President Piper are not met, then”. “With thanks” was also appended to Recommendation 3.

In response to a question from Mr. Simpson, Dr. Helsley stated that the total cost to the University was $771 000, plus the investment of time.

Dr. MacEntee reminded Senators that he had spoken against participation in U21 Global when it was first presented, and he urged the University to disengage itself as quickly as possible. He expressed concern about continued use of the UBC crest, and asked whether there would be legal recourse if the crest were to be used without permission.

President Toope indicated that he would take the Senate recommendations on this matter to the Board of Governors at the first possible opportunity. He stated that he would report back to Senate generally, as well as specifically in response to two questions:

1. Whether all of the invested funds had come from private donations, as was the original intent; and
2. Clarification about the continued use of the UBC crest and any recourse available to the University in response to unauthorized use.
In response to a question from Dr. Bluman, President Toope stated that he was aware of at least two other participating institutions that were considering withdrawal from U21 Global.

In response to a question from Mr. Simpson, Dr. Helsley confirmed that the University would not be held liable in the case of a U21 Global bankruptcy.

Report from the Vice-President, Academic & Provost

ESTABLISHMENT OF THE CENTRE FOR HIP HEALTH

Vice-President pro tem. Mackie presented a proposal to establish a new Centre within the Faculty of Medicine.

\[\text{Vice-President pro tem. Mackie}\]
\[\text{Dr. McLean}\]
\[\text{That the Senate approve the establishment of the Centre for Hip Health in the Faculty of Medicine, effective January 1, 2007.}\]

DISCUSSION

Dean Isaacson spoke in favour of the motion, but noted for the record that the establishment of centres and institutes residing within a single Faculty did not require the approval of the Senate.

The motion was put and carried.

Report from the University Librarian

2005/2006 REPORT OF THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARIAN TO THE SENATE

Interim Deputy University Librarian Dr. Peter Ward delivered the 2005/2006 Report of the University Librarian to the Senate. He gave an overview of his operational role within the UBC Library system, noting that the University Librarian remained responsible for strategic planning, donor relations, and the development of the Irving K. Barber Learning Centre.
Dr. Ward reported that he had observed significant workplace climate problems, but that there had been significant progress toward addressing those problems. He gave an overview of the consultative processes that had been put in place with a view to rectifying the situation.

Dr. Ward stated that the UBC Library had decided to participate in a large web-based user survey called “LibQUAL.” He invited Senators to participate.

In response to a question from Dr. Steyn, Vice-President pro tem. Mackie reported that Ms. Catherine Quinlan, University Librarian, was on leave and that an announcement about future plans would follow shortly. ### Proposed Calendar Entry

English Concentration and Major

Concentration

For the English Concentration, students must take 1) 6 credits of first- and second-year English; 2) 24 credits of third- and fourth-year English including the following: 6 credits of English Language, 6 credits of English literature before 1900, and 6 credits of English literature after 1900. Courses that fulfill the English language requirement include those focusing on the history or structure of English, rhetorical theory, or approaches to discourse. It is recommended that prospective applicants also complete courses in Shakespeare, Canadian literature, and composition.

Major

Students must have completed concentration requirements and an additional 6 credits of senior English.

Present Calendar entry

http://www.students.ubc.ca/calendar/index.cfm?tree=12,202,320,157

English Concentration and Major

For the English Concentration, students must take first- and second-year English; 24 credits of third- and fourth-year English including 6 credits from each of: English Language, English Composition or Creative Writing, Pre-twentieth Century Literature, and Twentieth Century Literature. Prospective applicants are advised to complete courses in both Shakespeare and Canadian literature.

For the English Major, students must take an additional 12 credits of senior English.

Secondary Teacher Education

Applicants must have completed a four-year bachelor's degree (or equivalent), normally in subject fields within Arts, Fine Arts, Science, Commerce or Business Administration, Music, and Human Kinetics (Physical Education), or in other secondary teaching fields. To increase the breadth of their experience and improve their opportunities for employment, applicants to Secondary Teacher Education are strongly advised to have completed subject-matter preparation for two teaching fields. Prospective teachers of technology education should see...
"Technology Education Program Options" for admission information and program requirements. Pre-admission studies must include the following:

1. 6 credits of English Literature and Composition or equivalent;
2. One of the following:
   1. one teaching major and one teaching concentration,
   2. two teaching concentrations, or
   3. one teaching major;
3. An average of 65% on the senior courses, normally numbered 300 and above, is required for each teaching field.

Type of Action: Changes to the secondary English admission requirements for the BEd program.

Rationale:

The primary changes are as follows:

1) removal of the senior composition requirement;
2) broadening of the ranges of courses meeting the language requirement;
3) reduction of the major from 36 to 30 credits of senior English.

These changes are proposed for the following reasons:

1) The Department of English defines the outcomes of a B.A. degree in English in the following way: "As a student of English, you gain not only knowledge of a particular area of human endeavour, but also certain skills. These are, broadly speaking, skills in critical interpretation, critical thinking, and reading with power and penetration; skills in research, writing, communicating and supporting your own ideas are additional benefits." (UBC Handbook for English Majors). At UBC no courses in composition are required of English Majors beyond the first-year course ENGL 112—and students are excused from that course if they have A grades in English 12. This is because it is implicit in the Department's sense of its own mandate, goals, and desired outcomes that research, writing, communicating, as well as interpretation, thinking and writing are part of all course content (source: Miranda Burgess, Majors Chair). Senior composition courses are not available at all post-secondary institutions and in some universities are in fact deemed remedial. Therefore, requiring a composition course is as likely to deter strong applicants with outstanding writing skills as it is to increase the quality of applications to our program.

2) Broadening the range of courses that meet the English language requirement recognizes the full range of English language courses offered by the UBC Department of English and also makes the program more accessible to external applicants.

3) Reduction of the number of credits required for the major brings the Faculty of Education requirements in line with the requirements for an English major at UBC and other B.C. degree-granting institutions.

These changes are proposed following extensive consultations with the Department of English. Supporting documentation in the form of a completed Curriculum Consultation Request demonstrating the approval of the Department of English is attached.
II. Admissions

Applicants Following Secondary School Curricula in Canada, outside of BC/Yukon > Introduction

Applicants who have followed an academic program leading to university entrance will be considered for admission to UBC. Students will be required to present English to the senior year level and all prescribed subjects for the university studies sought (see the table Specific Program Requirements).

Completion of secondary school graduation from a recognized secondary school is mandatory and a minimum average of 67% or equivalent is required.

Because of enrolment limitations, the academic standing required for admission to most programs is higher than 67%. Admission to some programs requires a minimum standing in specific courses. The minimum study for a UBC degree is four years.

The following requirements apply:

- Ontario. Ontario Secondary School Diploma with six appropriate Ontario Academic Courses (OACs) including English (OAC I) or a minimum of six Grade 12 U/M courses including English (ENG40).
Quebec. The collège d'enseignement général et professionnel (CEGEP). Applicants must have at least one full year of study in an academic diploma program with twelve appropriate courses for admission, including two courses in either ENGL (603) or FREN (601) plus the completion of the program-specific requirements. A minimum R-score of 15. However, due to limited enrolment, a higher R-score is required for most programs. The Cote De Rendement (R-Score) may be used as a supplement for admission. Students are strongly encouraged to submit their R-Score. Transfer credit for up to one full year of degree study may be granted when the two-year diploma has been awarded.

Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, PEI, Newfoundland, Northwest Territories, and Nunavut. Grade 12 graduation with standing in at least five appropriate academic Grade 12 courses including English.

Type of Action:
Add specific minimum course requirements for Quebec (CEGEP) to match what is already on the Welcome web site at http://www.welcome.ubc.ca/admission.cf?page=canada&view=QC&program=arts

Rationale:
The bullets for Ontario and Alberta, Saskatchewan etc. both state a minimum number of courses.

The proposed enrolment targets have been reviewed by the Vice-President, Academic & Provost pro temp. and the Committee of Deans.

Motion: That the Senate approve the 2007/2008 enrolment targets, as presented by the Admissions Committee.

To: Vancouver Senate

From: Agenda Committee

Subject: Convocation Representation on the Vancouver Senate

At its November 2006 meeting, the Vancouver Senate approved an expansion of its membership by four members from 85 to 89. This expansion was associated with the establishment of the College for Interdisciplinary Studies, and entailed the addition to Senate's membership of the Principal of the College, two faculty members, and one student, as the Senate is permitted to do under 35.1(2)(k) of the University Act. Although the new College is not a faculty, the Senate elected to adjust its membership as it would have done for a new faculty.

Also at the November 2006 Senate meeting, the Agenda Committee was requested to consider a complementary expansion in the number of Convocation Senators, in order to correct for a resulting decrease in the proportion of Senators representing the UBC Convocation.

Evolution of Senate Membership

In 1915 when UBC admitted its first students, there were 3 founding faculties and the Senate had 39 members. These were the Chancellor; the President; 9 members of the Faculties (23%); 15 Convocation Senators (38%); and 13 others from outside UBC (39%). The faculty representatives included the deans and two faculty members from each Faculty. There were then no student members.

Over the following several decades, the number of Faculties increased and their representation on the Senate increased accordingly, while the number of convocation Senators remained constant, and the number of others external to UBC was reduced. That is, as UBC grew and developed, the proportion of faculty representatives increased, while the proportions of convocation senators and others from outside UBC both reduced. In 1960, there were 10 Faculties and the Senate had 61 members. These were the Chancellor; the President; 30 members of the Faculties (49%); 5 other UBC administrators; 15 Convocation Senators (25%); and 14 others from outside UBC (23%), including representatives of the affiliated theological colleges.
The next major change to Senate membership occurred in May 1967, when the first four student representatives (and four additional faculty members) were added to the Senate. In 1975, the Senate elected to increase the number of Convocation Senators from four to 11. From 1975 to 2001, there were 12 Faculties and the Senate had between 84 and 89 members. Fluctuations in numbers were related to: the affiliation of Carey Theological College and the addition of its Principal in September 1999, the establishment of the College of Health Disciplines in October 2001 and the addition of its Principal, and a provision within the Advanced Education Statutes Amendment Act 2003 that discontinued the practice of appointing four provincial government representatives to University senates. By 2004, the total number of Senators stood at 85.

The establishment of the College for Interdisciplinary Studies led to the addition of four members in January 2007, expanding the membership from 85 to 89, where it stands today.

Some Considerations

The Committee considered a number of factors in order to make its recommendation regarding a further change to the membership of Senate:

1. UBC has matured and seen a growth in the number of faculties and colleges represented on Senate (an increase from 3 to 14). As this number has increased, there has been a corresponding increase in the proportion of their representatives on the Senate, and a consequential decrease in the representation of some of the other groups of representatives. The most recent change in January 2007 is congruent with this general trend.

2. The April 1993 report to Senate from the Academic Policy on Guidelines for the Establishment of a Faculty (which also addressed academic governance generally and Senate size and effectiveness in particular) notes concern about keeping the Senate at a “manageable size” and suggests that increases in the size of the Senate should be resisted unless such increases are specifically required by the University Act (for instance, because of the establishment of new faculties), or because there is a strong rationale for such increases.

3. Senate has required that the impact of the College of Interdisciplinary Studies on the membership of Senate be reported on by January 2008, and that reviews of the College be conducted and reports delivered to the Senate at intervals of two years (a formative review) and five years (a more extensive review) after the new Principal of the College has assumed his or her duties. Therefore, some are of the view that potential changes to the membership of Senate should be assessed following those two reviews.

The most recent changes to the membership of Senate have occurred since 2001, and have been associated with the establishment of the two colleges. Corresponding changes in the proportions of convocation senators and of faculty members / students are shown in...
Table 1 below. Prior to the establishment of the two colleges, the proportion of convocation senators was 13.1%, this was reduced to 12.9% when one college was represented, and further reduced to 12.5% when both colleges were represented. The corresponding proportions of faculty members and students were 60.7%, 60.0% and 60.7% respectively.

There seem to be two options that warrant consideration. One, Option A, is to make no change to the number of Convocation Senators at this time. The other, Option B, is to increase the number of Convocation Senators by one. The proportions of convocation Senators and faculty /students associated with these two options are also shown in Table 1.

Table 1. Changes in proportions of convocation senators and faculty/students.

<tr>
<td>Option B: add one convocation senator</td>
<td>90</td>
<td>13.3%</td>
<td>60.0%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

That is, relative to September 2001, Option A would result in a decrease in Convocation Senator representation by 0.6%, while faculty/student representation would be unchanged. Also relative to September 2001, Option B would result in an increase in Convocation Senator representation by 0.2%, and a decrease in faculty/student representation by 0.7%. Of these two options, given the Senate guideline that the size of Senate should not be increased unless there is a strong reason to do so, and given that either option would cause a net decrease in either Convocation Senator representation or faculty/student representation relative to September 2001, it is the opinion of the Agenda Committee that Option A is preferred. That is, even though there is a slight decrease in the proportion of Convocation Senators, it is considered desirable that the proportion of faculty/student representation revert to the level prior to the establishment of the two colleges, and the size of the Senate is not further increased.

Recommendation

Based on the foregoing, a majority of members of the Committee were of the view that the membership of Senate should not be changed at the present time.

The Committee recognized during its discussions that there is currently no mechanism in place for the regular review of Senate composition and the consideration of the relative representation of various constituencies. The Committee suggests that the Nominating Committee is best placed to consider whether such an exercise would be productive and, if so, how it might be accomplished.
Motions: That the Senate accept the recommendation of the Agenda Committee by approving Option A, i.e., the status quo, with respect to the composition of the Vancouver Senate.

And

That the Nominating Committee be directed to consider whether a process for the review at regular intervals of Senate composition would be advisable and to report back to the Senate with recommendations on the matter by the April 2007 meeting of the Senate.

Fundamental techniques of performance improvisation have proven to be an effective mechanism to bring students with disparate backgrounds together and rapidly develop creative, social, and leadership skills. Emphasis is placed on creativity and teamwork rather than achievement in acting: students develop their collaborative abilities in a demanding but supportive learning environment, at a low cost in materials and infrastructure, with a high “rate-of-return” in transferable skills development.</td>

The primary objective of the “Project Courses” in general is to provide substantial hands-on working experience in a supervised and mentored environment. DMED 520 introduces this “collaborative project-oriented” working model, and requires that students complete 5 relatively simple “introductory projects.” Since the course has both a lecture / seminar component and a “team-based projects” component, its credit weight is 6 credits instead of 3, unlike the other first-term courses in the program. Students will be expected to perform work equivalent to 3 credits in a “project-creation context” and 3 credits of work in a classroom context. |

Proposed Calendar Entry:
DMED 521 (12) Projects II
Prerequisite: DMED 520

| URL: | NA – new course |
| Present Calendar Entry: | none |
| Type of Action: | New Course |
| Rationale: | This is one of four project courses required in the proposed MDM degree program to be offered at GNWC. The primary educational objective of the “project courses” is to provide a hands-on practicum/studio with feedback and discussion. Other objectives are to develop creative and management skills through practice, and provide a work-experience with an external client whenever feasible.

In project courses I, II, and III, students working in teams will create, develop, and analyze a “digital media” project. Examples might include:

- Design and develop a mobile game combining techniques of stealth education and keyhole gaming to create a learning environment in which pre-teens and teenagers learn proper nutritional habits.
- Create a location-specific physical or virtual “ride” as a marketable installation having tangible learning outcomes.
- Create a fully realized animated film exploring an ethical question related to contemporary life
- Create a persistent virtual environment through the use of ‘sporadic play’ which busy people can revisit on demand.

Rationale: This required internship, normally taken at the mid-point of the degree program, places the student in full-time work in a digital media or entertainment technology organization and gives real-world experience in working to concrete deadlines with a motivated, often multidisciplinary, team.

Internship will be a pass-fail course. Students will normally be paid by the placement organization; the course credit value recognizes regular consultations and mentoring between the student and an advisory faculty member or team during the placement.

Rationale: This is one of two Special Topics courses to be offered (when required) in the Master of Digital Media degree program. By their nature, “special projects” courses will vary in specific content. One important objective of these courses is to allow faculty to introduce appropriate new material to the curriculum.

At UBC, a course of this kind would probably be offered as a “flexible credit” course. However, procedures regarding variable credit courses are widely divergent among the four GNWC partner institutions, so two distinct 3-credit offerings are proposed.

Effective Session W07 Term 1
Proposed Calendar Entry:

Present Calendar Entry:
LARC 415 (3) Structure, Form and Adaptability in Planting Design
Lectures and exercises dealing with plants as structural elements in landscape. Plant associations. Horticultural adaptations. Planning relation to subsequent maintenance. [2-2]
Prerequisite: LARC 316
Type of Action:
Change course number, title and description. Change from undergraduate class to graduate level professional class for Master of Landscape Architecture students.

Rationale:
This course is a recommended elective for Master of Landscape Architecture students and is NOT open to undergraduate students. It has been such an elective since the inception of the program in 1998, taught only to graduate students since that time. It was never changed from an undergraduate to a graduate class at the time the program changed from Bachelors to Masters. The course requires that students read, synthesize and apply environmental and behavioural psychology theory to landscape design. The students are also examined on the theoretical material. The proposed description reflects the course as it is currently offered.

There are no budget or facilities implications of this change.

Proposed Calendar Entry:
LARC 523 (3) Landscape Architecture Theory. Theoretical positions in landscape architecture and relation to designed landscapes.

Proposed Calendar Entry:
Master of Advanced Studies in Landscape Architecture

The Master of Advanced Studies in Landscape Architecture (M.A.S.L.A.) introduces students to independent research that will enable them to examine specific issues relating to landscape architecture. This degree program allows students to investigate an area of knowledge within the broad field of landscape architecture in collaboration with faculty engaged in research or consulting activity in that area. The research program requires the student to synthesize existing knowledge in landscape architecture and related fields. This synthesis will result in a thesis that must be approved by the student’s supervisor and committee members, and submitted to the Faculty of Graduate Studies.

The MASLA is a 31-credit program. Full-time students normally complete this program within 2-3 academic years, depending on whether they have a pre-existing professional design degree or need to take a qualifying year. This post-professional program is not intended to fulfill the requirements

Present Calendar Entry:
Master of Advanced Studies in Landscape Architecture

The Master of Advanced Studies in Landscape Architecture (M.A.S.L.A.) is a 31-credit program. Part-time study is allowed with prior approval from the Graduate Program Committee. Full-time students normally complete this program within two academic years. The program provides students an opportunity to examine and research specific issues relating to landscape, place and environment. This post-professional program is not intended to fulfill the requirements for membership as established by the British Columbia Society of Landscape Architects or similar organizations in other provinces of Canada. Those wishing professional credentials should enrol in the Master of Landscape Architecture (M.L.A.) program.

Admission: Applicants for admission to the M.A.S.L.A. program must have a four-year bachelor's degree in a design discipline as well as some experience in a design practice. All candidates must also meet the basic academic requirements of the Faculty of Graduate Studies. In addition, all applicants must submit a design portfolio. The minimum TOEFL

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS: APPLICANTS FOR ADMISSION TO THE M.A.S.L.A. PROGRAM MUST HAVE EITHER: 1) A FOUR-YEAR BACHELOR’S DEGREE IN A DESIGN DISCIPLINE, WITH SOME EXPERIENCE IN A DESIGN PRACTICE; OR 2) A BACHELOR’S DEGREE IN A RELATED DISCIPLINE (SUCH AS PLANNING, GEOGRAPHY, ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES) WITH SOME PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE AND A QUALIFYING YEAR OF STUDY.

THE COURSE OF STUDY FOR THE QUALIFYING YEAR, TO ACHIEVE IMMERSION IN THE LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE FIELD IS COMPRISED OF (27 CREDITS):

LARC 422 (3), LARC 501 (12), LARC 502 (9), AND LARC 540 (3).

All applicants must meet the basic academic requirements of the Faculty of Graduate Studies. In addition, all applicants must submit a brief statement of their research interest and either a design portfolio or a portfolio of project work and/or applied research experience (for non-design degree graduates). The minimum TOEFL score required of international applicants is 560. For additional information, please visit the program’s website or see Contact Information below.

COURSE OF STUDY: The course of study is comprised of LARC 500, 520, 541, 599, 6 credits of 500-level electives, and 6 credits of 300-level and above electives. At least one of the elective courses must focus on design-research methodologies. Research activities and thesis development will be focused within the two broad areas of advanced design, design theory and design education, and environmental design, planning and management at the site-specific scale.

RATIONALE:

1. Change of admission requirements: This proposal provides more flexibility on intake of applicants, no longer requiring these to be limited only to those with a previous design degree. Those applicants who wish to do a non-professional research-oriented degree and do not have a previous design degree will be required to complete a qualifying year to provide a foundation in the field of landscape architecture.
2. Change of course requirements:

| Type of Action: Change to H/P/F grading. |
(Honours grade = 90% or higher. Failing grade = 68% or lower.)

Rationale:
Changing the thesis to pass/fail removes a level of variation in marking and is in harmony with much of the rest of the university. The program still wishes to recognize outstanding work, therefore honours will be applied to outstanding work.

ARST 500 (3) Information Technology and Archives

Contact Person: Francesca Marini

Phone:

Email: fmarini@interchange.ubc.ca

URL:

Present Calendar Entry: None.

Type of Action: New course.

Rationale:

This course is changing from an individual seminar within a variable credit multiple seminar course to a separately numbered non-variable-credit course.

The rationale for such a course stems from the need to prepare students for the issues faced by modern archivists, such as managing electronic records and ensuring long-term preservation and access. Furthermore, students need familiarity with current and significant pieces of the enormous and constantly increasing body of literature developed in this area. The course examines archival functions and technology (Digital Preservation; Acquisition; Appraisal; Disposition; Accessioning; Arrangement and Description; Online Access; Reference Services), and in this context looks at trusted digital repositories and certification, electronic finding aids, archival databases, Web and database design for archival users, and legislation and the online archival environment. It also addresses, to a degree, records management and technology.

The course has been taught as a seminar for the past three years and has been well supported and subscribed. A parallel course exists in the Library and Information Studies Program (LIBR 500). The proposed ARST 500 course fits in with international guidelines on graduate archival education, such as The Society of American Archivists’ Guidelines for a Graduate Program in Archival Studies (Chicago, Ill.: The Society of American Archivists, 2002). Section B.1 “Interdisciplinary Knowledge-Information Technology” (available at: http://www.archivists.org/prof-education/ed_guidelines.asp; last accessed: May 17, 2006) states that:

Proposed Calendar Entry:
ARST 530 (3) THE HISTORY OF ADMINISTRATION IN THE CANADIAN JURIDICAL CONTEXT

Present Calendar Entry:
ARST 530 (3) THE JURIDICAL CONTEXT OF CANADIAN ARCHIVES

Type of Action:
Revise course title.

Rationale:
This proposal constitutes a reformulation of ARST 530: The Juridical Context of Canadian Archives. The existing course combined study of the Canadian societal context in which records are created with introductory study of the Canadian archival system and profession. It has for years been a course that students in the Master of Archival Studies (MAS) program take in their first term in order to introduce them to constitutional, legal, political, and social conditions influencing records creation and maintenance by the body that produced them and their preservation by an archives. This revision proposes to make the new ARST 530 concentrate on the juridical context of records creation and maintenance as it has evolved, primarily in Canada.

It is axiomatic in archival science that the records an administration produces reflect the way it organizes itself and carries out its functional activities. How any given administration acquires its authority to act, organizes its work, and carries out its activities is strongly cultivated by the traditions of governance and law of the community of which it is a part. The archives of both public and private bodies are not static things; they evolve in response to changes in their juridical context and to changes in the way bodies are organized and function. Therefore, the study of the history of administration is a fundamental pursuit of archivists. Such study aims to give students an understanding how both public agencies and private organizations are created, how they are influenced by constitutional, legal, and administrative traditions, and how this context is a vital aspect of understanding the character of the archives they produce. The course aims to give students a sound method of studying the history of administration for archival purposes, and also gives them the opportunity to apply the method with actual study of the history of an administration, which is a basic research skill that all archivists must possess. As such, the study in this course supports the other courses in the program that focus on the archivist’s treatment of records, such as arrangement, description, and selection and acquisition of archival material. It will also provide a foundation for and complement to the elective course on the history of recordkeeping (ARST 517).

The Association of Canadian Archivist’s Guidelines for the Development of a Two-Year Curriculum for a Master of Archival Studies and the Society of American Archivist’s Guidelines for a Graduate Program in Archival Studies both call for study of this kind in archival programs.

ARST 545 (3) Advanced Arrangement and Description of Archival Documents

| URL: |
| Present Calendar Entry: |

Type of Action:

New course.

Rationale:

This course material was previously taught in an individual seminar within a variable credit multiple seminar course. In the first year of the MAS Program students are introduced to the core areas of archival knowledge, one of which is the arrangement and description of archival documents (ARST 515). The first year course is intended to teach students the fundamental theory and methodology of arrangement and description. The proposed course, ARST 545, builds on that foundation by exploring this subject area in more depth and from a number of perspectives. The need for such a course stems from the enormous increase in the body of literature on this topic over the past decade. The advanced course examines modern and postmodern approaches to archival arrangement, description and access; the description of electronic records in accordance with lifecycle and continuum models; issues associated with web-based finding aids; and specialized vocabularies for describing archival documents. The course has been taught as a seminar for the past three years and has been well supported and subscribed.

ARST 550 (3) Management of Audiovisual and Non-textual Archives

URL:

Present Calendar Entry:
None.

Type of Action:
New course.

Rationale:

This course is changing from an individual seminar within a variable credit multiple seminar course to a separately numbered non-variable-credit course.

In the first year of the MAS Program students are introduced to the core areas of archival knowledge. Building on this foundation, this proposed second-year elective course, ARST 550, is intended to expand students’ knowledge and apply it to the area of audiovisual and non-textual archives.

The rationale for such a course stems from the ever-increasing demand for archivists qualified to manage formats that go beyond traditional and electronic records. Public and private institutions, as well as individuals, are seeking qualified professionals able to understand the unique characteristics of the records and other materials that arise from the activities in areas such as film, television, digital performance and art. Unique skills are needed in order to efficiently maintain and make readily accessible essential records that institutions and individuals need in the short and long term.

Within the archival profession, there are now well-established specialized categories of archivists—such as film, audiovisual, performing arts, and sound archivists—with the need to be recognized and properly educated within academic programs.

The course examines the management of audiovisual and non-textual materials (e.g., graphic materials, cartographic materials, moving image, and sound recordings), in the following areas:

- Creation and Primary Use of Audiovisual and Non-textual Materials;
- Preservation and Secondary Use of Audiovisual and Non-textual Materials in Repositories (i.e., Appraisal and Disposition; Accessioning; Arrangement and Description; Preservation and Restoration; Access, Reference Services and Users).

The proposed course was introduced as a seminar four years ago in response to student demand. It has been well supported and subscribed, engaging the interest of students both in the archival and library degree programs.

URL:
Present Calendar Entry: None.
Type of Action: New course.
Rationale:

This course is changing from an individual seminar within a variable credit multiple seminar course to a separately numbered non-variable-credit course.

The preservation of reliable, accurate and authentic digital records is the major challenge that the archival profession will have to meet in the next few years. Students are provided with basic knowledge about digital records in the context of all required archival courses, where they study concepts, principles and methods as they apply to records in all media, and by being involved in the archival faculty research. It is important to build on that foundation by giving the students an opportunity to explore in depth the issues raised by the pervasive adoption of digital technology in business, in the arts and the sciences, and in administration, and to examine how traditional archival theory and methods can be adapted to ensure the preservation of the legibility, intelligibility, accessibility, identity and integrity of digital records so that they can be used and trusted over the long term as sources by the citizens who wish to hold their governments accountable and the researchers who wish to discover the past.

The students will study the findings and recommendations of research projects carried out worldwide, several standards already developed or in course of development, and international literature on the topic.

Proposed Calendar Entry:
ARST 573 (3) ARCHIVAL SYSTEMS AND THE PROFESSION

Present Calendar Entry:
ARST 573 (3) ARCHIVAL SYSTEMS AND THE PROFESSION IN CANADA AND OTHER COUNTRIES

Type of Action:
Revise course

Rationale:
This proposal constitutes a reformulation of ARST 573, which has lately been an elective course in the Master of Archival Studies Program. As an elective course it concentrated on study of archival systems outside Canada.

It is proposed to make the new ARST 573 a required course that students will take in the first term of their program. It allows students to understand and develop a critical appreciation of the institutional and professional context of archival work, and to make comparisons with archival systems and the profession in other countries. Thus, there will no longer be a need for an elective course on foreign archival systems.

Acquiring the knowledge of this course early in the program will help students frame other courses on archival functions and will prepare them for fieldwork courses such as the Internship. There is a need to give students a broad appreciation of other national archival systems because graduates of the program work often work outside Canada.

The current ARST 530: THE JURIDICAL CONTEXT OF CANADIAN ARCHIVES has fulfilled in part the role of a first term course such as the one proposed here. ARST 530 is also being reformulated at this time to become a course in the history of Canadian administration. See the companion proposal for a new ARST 530.

Given that it is taught frequently, and that it is a key topic of research for a number of Psychology faculty members (Heine, Henrich, Lehman, Norenzayan, and Schaller), we want to offer it as a stand-alone course with its own title and calendar entry. This will be more informative for students and those reading their transcripts.

Rationale: The content of PSYC 585 will focus on developmental cognitive neuroscience, with the specific selected topics chosen in keeping with the research interests of the professor teaching the course on each occasion. There is currently no graduate course in the Psychology Department's curriculum devoted to this topic, though we have several faculty members with expertise in the area. This content is currently taught under other course numbers, including PSYC 513 (Special Topics in Developmental Psychology) and PSYC 521 (Psycholinguistics), but it would be more informative to have a title reflecting the course content. CUST 511 (3) Seminar in Case-Study Research and Cross-Case Analysis

Prerequisite: A qualitative or survey of research methods course.

URL:

Course Number: CUST 565 F (031)

Present Calendar Entry:

Type of Action:

New Course

Rationale:

Case study and cross-case analysis is rapidly becoming a methodology of choice for researchers study complex processes in the social, political and applied health sciences sphere. At the same time, however, it is also rapidly becoming a catch-all phrase for "anything goes" in research methods. This rationale for this course is that it aims to increase the rigor of case study research employed by graduate student researchers for their theses and dissertations.

This course is intentionally not a survey of all research methods, methodologies, or analytical strategies. Rather, course participants will have an opportunity to address methodological considerations unique to case study and to develop an argument that case study is the appropriate methodology for their research. The instructor will facilitate an exploration of the unique contributions that well honed case studies can make to research. This contributions have resurfaced social science with a re-examination of Aristotle and his concept of phronesis. The course is unique in that we will also engage in a collective activity of cross-case analysis to enhance our understanding of relationships among discrete research projects. We aim to amplify the theoretical and analogical power of a case by exploring how commonalities of processes and structure can exist despite the appearance of difference in events, activities, and phenomenon.

| Type of Action: New Course | Rationale: The goal of the Society, Culture and Politics in Education (SCPE) Program in the Department of Educational Studies (which was fully approved in May of 2004) is to use the social sciences and humanities to address major issues affecting educational policy and practice. The program addresses social justice issues such as the unequal distribution of resources and outcomes, power relations, recognition and representation from post-colonial, feminist, anti-racist, materialist and First Nations perspectives. The SCPE capstone course helps students to reflect on their learning in these interconnected areas and is designed to satisfy the capstone experience requirements of the Teacher Qualification Service (TQS) of British Columbia.

This particular course is the capstone course for SCPE MEd students. Its aim is to enable students to demonstrate critical understanding of theory/research in a number of disciplinary fields in education including sociology, history, anthropology, and philosophy of education and it keeping with the TQS, it provides students with the opportunity to demonstrate integration and application of learning across the program. The overall goal of the capstone course requires students to explicitly link theory and research to their practice.

This course evolved out of another program capstone course, EADM 553A Group Inquiry in Educational Administration- the capstone course for the MEd Educational Administration program. The SCPE capstone course was offered under this course number in W2 2005 and and W2 2006. Faculty deemed it necessary to develop a separate capstone course that would borrow some aspects of the Educational Administrative course but also address specific SCPE Program objectives. There was also some student confusion about which courses they should be taking to complete their programs. Therefore, a course with its own title, number, and content more accurately reflects the focus and purpose of the capstone course within the overall SCPE program.

This course is designed specifically for SCPE MEd students and serves as a final course requirement in the Masters of Education (and MA program where relevant) program.
Given its past relationship with an existing course, and in consultation with the Faculty of Graduate Studies, this new course was judged to have no new budgetary, library or course conflict considerations and thus broad consultation was not required. Type of Action: New Course

Rationale:

We are proposing this new course to fill a gap in our program by integrating research and practice in the areas of literacy, drama and children’s literature education. We have recently revitalized our drama program within LLED, yet we had no graduate courses to bring these areas of research and practice together. The course is currently running as a 565 and draws students from all areas of our department and from other departments. Students include practicing teachers in elementary schools, master’s and doctoral students conducting research in drama, literacy and children’s literature, and students interested in arts-based approaches to curriculum.

The UBC Faculty of Law is one of the world's leading law schools and one of Canada's oldest university faculties of law. Graduates have assumed leadership positions in a broad range of spheres, both nationally and internationally, in the legal profession, the judiciary, government, public interest organizations, business and academia.

There are many reasons for choosing graduate studies in law at UBC. The outstanding faculty are respected worldwide for their innovative and interdisciplinary research. Students are offered one of the largest and most diverse course lists in Canada - so students can pursue their academic interests, whatever their focus.

The deadline for application to all Graduate Programs in the Faculty of Law is February 15th. Early application is strongly encouraged.

Degree Requirements

Doctor of Philosophy

The Ph.D. program is designed to provide advanced training for outstanding graduate students who have already obtained a Master of Laws (LL.M.) or equivalent. Through the program, highly accomplished graduate students will be trained to carry out advanced research under supervision by members of the Faculty of Law.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the Ph.D. The program requires a Bachelor of Laws as well as an LL.M. or equivalent from a recognized institution indicating a superior level of academic performance in a field of specialization that will support the applicant's Ph.D. research. In exceptional circumstances applicants who do not meet these requirements but who, in the opinion of the Faculty of Law Graduate Committee, possess qualifications appropriate for admission to the doctoral program may be considered for provisional acceptance dependent upon successful completion of one or more law courses prior to formal acceptance. External or correspondence degrees are not eligible for consideration.
Program Requirements

The Ph.D. curriculum consists of a one-year, two-part seminar and other coursework as required by a student’s supervisory committee. All doctoral students are required to complete a comprehensive examination successfully. The major requirement for the Ph.D. is completion of a research thesis meeting the Faculty of Graduate Studies requirements.

Master of Laws (LL.M.)

Admission Requirements

To be eligible for admission into the LL.M. program, a candidate must have a Bachelor of Laws degree or its equivalent from an approved law faculty. In addition, all applicants must meet the Faculty of Graduate Studies' minimum academic standards for admission. External or correspondence degrees are not eligible for consideration.

Program Requirements

The LL.M. program combines coursework with the preparation of a thesis of acceptable quality. Students are required to complete successfully 36 credits of work, of which 20 credits are allocated to the thesis, 12 credits to coursework (usually comprising four one-term courses or seminars), and 4 credits to the required Master of Laws seminar.

Master of Laws

Admission Information: For more comprehensive information please refer to the program’s website.
Master of Laws in Common Law

The LL.M. (Common Law) degree is a one-year professional program designed to provide academic training introducing accomplished lawyers from other legal systems to common law concepts and methods.

Admission Requirements

To enter the LL.M. (Common Law), students must possess a non-common law professional law degree.

Program Requirements

Students are required to successfully complete 30 credits of work, consisting of the six credit Law 550: Seminar in Common Law Theory and Practice, at least 18 graduate-level courses or seminars and up to six credits from designated 300- or 400-level LL.B. courses or seminars. It is normally expected that students will complete their program of study in one academic year (September – April).

Type of Action: Edit calendar entry

The proposed changes:

1. involve editorial changes to correct typographical or editing errors, and to bring them into conformity with the style and presentation format now preferred by the University of British Columbia;
2. rename the degree "M.Jur." to the "LL.M. (Common Law)"
3. Edit program description.

Rationale:

The Faculty of Law and Faculty of Graduate Studies is making a combined effort to ensure that calendar entries for graduate programs are consistent, effective, efficient and equitable.

Around the ‘common law world’ almost all graduate degrees in law at the Masters level are known as “LL.M.” Neither prospective students nor their prospective employers understand the “M.Jur.” designation.

Memo to: Vancouver Senate

From: Senate Committee on Student Awards, Vancouver

Re: Changes to Regulations Governing University Awards (approval)

Currently, UBC has two sets of regulations: Regulations Governing University Awards and Regulations Governing University Graduate Awards. The regulations were brought forward for review at the request of the Senate Committee on Student Awards and were revised in consultation with Student Financial Assistance and Awards and the Faculty of Graduate Studies.

The regulations have been revised in the following ways and for the following purposes:

▪ Adjust the regulations to reflect current practices and any new policies, including policies approved by Senate (deferral of Admission) and the Board of Governors (Policy 72: Access to the University of British Columbia)
▪ Clarify wording and offer precision where current regulations have caused confusion for students, Faculty and/or donors
▪ Consolidate information and simplify where appropriate, including combination of the two sets of regulations and breaking the new set into three parts: general regulations (for both undergraduate and graduate awards), undergraduate regulations, and graduate regulations
▪ Eliminate any wording or regulations that are inconsistent with the University and Senate's vision of the role of awards at the institution
▪ Remove wording considered to be procedural rather than policy-related

The proposed and present regulations are provided in the attached UBC Proposal Form, followed by a copy of the regulations with changes highlighted (in bold-face) and explanatory notes in the margins, for Senate review.

The Senate Committee on Student Awards approved the attached set of revised Regulations Governing University Awards at a recent meeting and recommends them for Senate approval.

MOTION: That Senate approve the revised Regulations Governing University Awards as circulated.

Respectfully submitted,

Present Regulations Governing University Awards
and Regulations Governing University Graduate Awards

Regulations Governing University Awards

The following regulations, as approved by the University of British Columbia Senate, govern all awards over which the University has jurisdiction.

1. It is the policy of the University to attract, at both graduate and undergraduate levels, the best academically qualified students, whatever their origin. With that objective in mind, it is the primary policy of the University to encourage donations, whether to individual Faculties or the University’s general scholarship and bursary funds, that can be used to reward excellence or to support needy students. The goal is to maximize fairness, flexibility and efficiency in the administration of available funds. The University does not approve award terms inconsistent with the Charter of Human Rights and Freedoms and other human rights legislation.

2. Awards issued by the University are applied to tuition fees. If the amount of the award is greater than the fees, the excess is paid to the student after the tuition fees have been deducted.

3. Bursaries are awarded on the basis of financial need, in accordance with Policy 72, “Access to the University of British Columbia”.

4. If invested funds do not provide the necessary income for any endowed award, payment of the award may be reduced or the award withheld. The University does not guarantee the payment of any awards other than those from the funds of the University. The University reserves the right to withhold awards donated by individuals or organizations where the funds required have not actually been received.

5. The Senate reserves the right to change the terms governing an award, so that they may better meet new conditions, more fully carry out the intentions of the donor, or maintain the usefulness of the benefaction. The rights so reserved shall be exercised by resolution of the Senate duly confirmed by the Board of Governors, provided always that sufficient notice shall be given in Senate of any proposed change and that the donor or his representative, if known, shall be consulted about the proposed change.

6. Candidates are permitted to hold more than one academic award only with the permission of the Office of Awards and Financial Aid. A winner may retain the honour of winning an award but resign the monetary value. Any funds thus made available...
Regulations Pertaining to Undergraduate Awards

1. Unless otherwise stated, awards are tenable only at UBC and are open to Winter Session students only. Marks obtained in summer session courses are not taken into account.

2. Scholarships, prizes or other academic awards will normally be made only to an undergraduate student, registered in at least 27 credits, standing in the top 10% of his/her year and faculty, or with an average of 75% or higher (with no failed courses) in the academic session on which the award adjudication is based.

3. Scholarship standing for students taking more than 27 credits will be determined on the basis of 27 credits to be chosen in a manner most advantageous to the student.

4. Candidates are permitted to hold more than one academic award only with the permission of Student Financial Assistance and Awards. A winner may retain the honour of winning an award but resign the monetary value. Any funds thus made available will be used for additional awards.

5. Holders of undergraduate scholarships normally are expected to be registered in 24 credits to retain their scholarships. Scholarships are offered only to those who continue their studies to the satisfaction of Student Financial Assistance and Awards and may be withheld for unsatisfactory attendance or progress. Students registered in fewer than 24 credits in their final year of study may retain a scholarship and/or be eligible for a prize or other year-end award if their Faculty or School confirms this number of credits is sufficient for graduation. In this case, a scholarship may be prorated.

6. Students who have completed at least one year of study at UBC may be eligible to defer certain scholarships for one year, provided they show satisfactory reasons for postponing attendance. Requests for deferment must be made to Student Financial Assistance and Awards. Students wishing to take up an award deferred from a previous year must advise the Office of Awards and Financial Aid by July 1. The University of British Columbia recognizes that students may encounter opportunities or circumstances that could result in a request for deferred admission. Applicants in a first year of a degree program may request a deferral for one year (or two years in cases of mandatory military service). Students who have been granted deferred admissions will automatically have any scholarships or other merit-based awards deferred until they begin their study at the University. Students who are granted permission to defer their admission and therefore their awards as well will still have to satisfy any conditions of the admission offer, such as completion of courses in progress, maintenance of a satisfactory admission average, and graduation from secondary school. They must apply to take up the deferred offer by the application deadline of the following year. They must register in the program and at the campus to which will be used for additional awards.

6. Awards issued by the University are applied to tuition fees. If the amount of the award is greater than the fees, the excess is paid to the student after the tuition fees have been deducted. Cheques should be picked up at the Office of Awards and Financial Aid to the dates indicated on individual award notices.

7. Holders of undergraduate scholarships normally are expected to be registered in 24 credits to retain their scholarships. Awards are made only to those who continue their studies to the satisfaction of the Office of Awards and Financial Aid and may be withheld for unsatisfactory attendance or progress.

8. Students who have completed at least one year of study at UBC may be eligible to defer certain scholarships for one year, provided they show satisfactory reasons for postponing attendance. Requests for deferment must be made to the Office of Awards and Financial Aid. Students wishing to take up an award deferred from a previous year must advise the Office of Awards and Financial Aid by July 1. Entrance scholarships are not normally deferred. Exceptions may be made, however, for students who are recipients of specific awards such as the Rotary Foundation Scholarship and the Pacific Rim Scholarship (through the Province of British Columbia).

9. Scholarships awarded for achievement in a specific faculty or discipline are normally conditional upon the winner continuing studies in the same discipline during the following year. A course change to an ineligible faculty or discipline will usually result in reassignment of the award to another student.

10. Bursaries are awarded on the basis of financial need.

11. If invested funds do not provide the necessary income for any endowed award, payment of the award may be reduced or the award withheld. The University does not guarantee the payment of any awards other than those from the funds of the University. The University reserves the right to withhold awards donated by individuals or organizations where the funds required have not actually been received.

12. The Senate reserves the right to change the terms governing an award, so that they may better meet new conditions, more fully carry out the intentions of the donor, or maintain the usefulness of the benefaction. The rights so reserved shall be exercised by resolution of the Senate duly confirmed by the Board of Governors, provided always that a year's notice shall be given in Senate of any proposed change and that the donor or his representative, if known, shall be consulted about the proposed change.
they were admitted or will be required to reapply and compete with the new applicant pool for a space.

7. Scholarships awarded for achievement in a specific faculty or discipline or intended for students studying in a particular program are normally conditional upon the winner continuing studies in the same discipline or program during the following year. A course change to an ineligible faculty or discipline will usually result in reassignment of the award to another student.

Regulations Pertaining to Graduate Awards

1. The fellowships and scholarships offered, unless otherwise stated, are available only to support students engaged in full-time study and/or research leading to a degree at The University of British Columbia and will normally be paid only if the recipient is registered as a full-time student at the University during the payment period.

2. Students offered both University Graduate Fellowship funding and external funding for full-time study and research at UBC will be required to accept the external funding. If the value of the external award funding is less than the value of the University Graduate Fellowship, the student will receive the difference between the University Graduate Fellowship and external award funding.

3. Killam Predoctoral Fellowships are subject to the same terms of award as University Graduate Fellowships.

Regulations Governing University Graduate Awards

The following regulations, as approved by the University Senate, govern all graduate awards over which the University has jurisdiction.

1. It is the policy of the University to attract, at both graduate and undergraduate levels, the best academically qualified students, whatever their origin. With that objective in mind, it is the primary policy of the University to encourage donations, whether to individual Faculties or to the University’s general scholarship and bursary funds, that can be used to reward excellence or to support needy students without restrictions based on non-academic considerations. Such donations maximize fairness, flexibility and efficiency in the administration of available funds.

2. The fellowships and scholarships offered are available only for full-time study and/or research leading to a higher degree in the Faculty of Graduate Studies at the University of British Columbia and will normally be paid only if the recipient is in full-time study and/or research at the University during the payment periods. Students whose programs require off-campus field work must submit a letter of authorization from the head of the department.

3. A fellowship or scholarship recipient is not permitted to simultaneously hold other major fellowships, scholarships or support from governments.

4. The University does not deduct income tax from the fellowships awards, which are taxable in the hands of the recipient.

5. Board and room, and other fees are the responsibility of the student.

6. Subject to satisfactory standing and progress, full University Graduate Fellowships may be renewed for one further year. After one renewal, candidates who wish to apply for a further award can re-enter the competition, provided they are still eligible according to UGF Regulations. Partial University Graduate Fellowships and awards from the Hugo E. Melicke Fund, the Tina and Morris Wagner Foundation, and other internal university graduate awards are for one year only.

Award 00774 – DURANTE Kreuk Prize in Landscape Architecture (revised description): A $1,000 prize has been endowed by Durante Kreuk Limited for a student in the Master of Landscape Architecture program who has achieved the highest degree of design excellence in the graduation project. The prize is made on the recommendation of the School of Architecture and Landscape Architecture.

How amended: The firm has decided to endow this prize after funding it on an annual basis since 1991. Otherwise, the terms of the award are unchanged.

Award 05309 – David NAIRNE Memorial Scholarship in Civil Engineering (revised description): Scholarships totalling $3,500 have been endowed by the family, friends and colleagues of David Nairne (B.A.Sc.1964), founder of David Nairne and Associates Ltd., who for over thirty years was dedicated to working with First Nations communities throughout B.C. and Yukon. The awards are given to undergraduate or graduate Aboriginal students in Civil Engineering, Architecture and/or the School of Community and Regional Planning, with a preference for those in Civil Engineering. They are made on the recommendation of the Faculty of Applied Science and, where appropriate, the Faculty of Arts, in consultation with the First Nations House of Learning and, in the case of graduate students, in consultation with the Faculty of Graduate Studies.

How amended: Originally established in 2003, this scholarship was restricted exclusively to First Nations students in Civil Engineering. However, only one student to date has been identified as eligible for the award, meaning that no scholarships were disbursed in 2004W or 2005W. The donors have, therefore, elected to broaden the award terms to include students in Architecture and Community and Regional Planning. Amended Endowment Fund Terms of Reference including this revision have been approved by University Counsel and by the Board of Governors.

Award 04107 – PHYSIOTHERAPY Association of B.C. Prize (revised description): A $150 prize is offered by the Physiotherapy Association of B.C. to a graduating student in the Master of Physical Therapy Program who attains the highest cumulative standing in RSPT 528,538,548, and 558. Preference is that the prize be used to purchase books to further the student’s education in physiotherapy. The award is made on the recommendation of the School of Rehabilitation Sciences.

How amended: The terms stated that the prize was given “for general proficiency in the final year of the physiotherapy program.” The revised wording is more specific as to the courses on which the adjudication should be based.

RE:       GUIDELINES FOR CORPORATE RELATIONS AND STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

The Board of Governors at its meeting held on December 7, 2006, passed the following resolution:

Whereas entering into mutually beneficial strategic alliances with the private sector is regarded as desirable, in that such alliances can advance the mission of the University as articulated in Trek 2010, the Board hereby directs the Administration:

To create and submit for approval, no later than the March 2007 Board of Governors meeting, guidelines that will enable the University to proactively seek out, create, and sustain mutually beneficial strategic alliances in a manner competitive with other top universities worldwide.

The guidelines should reflect that the University’s participation in these alliances shall be carefully considered in all respects, and should, in particular:

1. Ensure alignment of potential partners with University values and the Trek 2010 goals and mission,
2. Continue to protect the University’s reputation,
3. Create a public statement of the University’s interest and ability to seek out and enter into mutually beneficial alliances, thereby attracting potential partners into discussions,
4. Take into account input from consultation with constituencies within the University;
5. Take into account input obtained from members of the private sector; and
6. Provide clear guidance for interested parties, including the Board of Governors, Administration and potential partners to evaluate strategic alliance opportunities.

INTERNAL CONSULTATION ON CORPORATE RELATIONS AND STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP GUIDELINES

Background

The University’s Board of Governors has determined that mutually beneficial strategic partnerships with the private sector that advance the mission of the University as articulated in Trek 2010 are desirable. The Board has directed the administration to prepare guidelines that will enable the University to proactively seek out, create, and sustain mutually beneficial strategic alliances in a manner competitive with other top universities worldwide.

What is a Strategic Partnership?

Strategic partnerships are multi-year mutually beneficial business arrangements between the University and private sector firms in which the firms agree to provide support to the University and its programs in return for access to the University's brand name, resources, intellectual property, and/or markets. Strategic partnerships are, “strategic” agreements that may encompass one or more of the following elements:

- Campus marketing and distribution rights
- Joint research or research support
- Capital project support
- Intellectual property access or visibility
- Procurement
- Corporate philanthropy
- Corporate sponsorship including event sponsorships
- Corporate naming or signage
- Investment
- Property Leases in the institutional core
- Facility Usage
- Preferred or long term supplier arrangements
- Joint venture
- Equity in University operations or subsidiaries
- Student co-op / summer / internship positions
- Other commercial consideration

Strategic partnership are NOT individual, stand-alone transactions that involve one of the above elements.

Consultation Process

The Board has requested that the administration gather input from constituencies within the University and from members of the private sector. We welcome input from members of the University community. To provide structure to the process, we have prepared a series of questions and issues on which we would like your feedback.
Questions

General
We welcome your views on the following questions:

1. Given the Board’s direction, can you make any general suggestions that would help the administration achieve the objectives described?
2. What can be done to improve UBC’s attractiveness as a potential partner, and help UBC compete globally for the best partnerships?
3. Can you help describe a clear, fair and objectively verifiable set of characteristics for companies that should be avoided?
4. On what kinds of partnerships should UBC focus its resources?
5. On what types of organizations should UBC focus its resources?
6. Are there any other issues you feel the Committee should consider?
7. What are your views on key issues that should be addressed to improve UBC’s ability to establish and maintain strategic partnerships in accordance with the Board’s direction? We are interested in all stages of the relationship from the initial stage of seeking out strategic partners; to establishing a mutually beneficial relationship; and then sustaining the relationship.

Basic Principles
Do you agree or disagree with the following statements, and if you disagree, do you have any suggestions on what the principle should state?

1. Academic Freedom: A strategic partnership shall not compromise the academic integrity or freedom of the University, faculty members, or students, except that students may voluntarily limit their academic freedom in pursuing co-op or internship opportunities (e.g., agree to not disclose corporate secrets) provided that students are given reasonable choice in pursuing such opportunities.

2. Use of Proceeds: (a) Proceeds from a strategic partnership cannot be used to replace expenses normally associated with general purpose operating funds (GPOF). (b) Where a strategic partnership results in discretionary funding, the Executive Committee will recommend to the President the allocation of such funds.

3. Conflict of Interest and Fair Dealings: University employees and board members must ensure that no real or perceived conflict exists between their personal interests and those of the University. University employees and board members must act in the University’s best interests by dealing with suppliers, contractors, existing and potential business partners and other corporate employees in a manner that avoids real, perceived or potential conflicts of interest.

4. Assessing a Corporate Partner: (a) The University should consider the business practices of a potential corporate partner prior to engaging in any strategic partnership. In particular, the University will not enter into a strategic partnership with a corporation where the corporation or any of its directors or officers (acting in their official capacities) have been convicted of a crime. (b) Such assessment will be conducted by University personnel based on credible publicly available information.

5. Confidentiality: Portions of a strategic partnership proposal or agreement will be held in confidence as provided under provincial Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy legislation.

6. Unfair Competition: The University and its subsidiaries will avoid strategic partnerships that would result in the University using public infrastructure, funds or debt to directly or indirectly offer goods or services to the public in competition with the corporate sector. An exception is made for goods and services offered as part of academic program experience, such as a dental or medical clinic.

7. Value: Strategic partnerships that include procurement or distribution should be structured to ensure that the overall cost of goods provided to the University community is at market value, with consideration to the total value provided by the strategic partnership.

What are your views on other basic principles that ought to be included in the guidelines?
