Remarks from the Chair and Related Questions

PRESIDENT MARTHA C. PIPER

The President recalled her recent announcement that she was to step down as President in June 2006, following nine years in the position. She stated that serving as President had constituted an incredible privilege and a remarkable opportunity. President Piper felt that a fresh injection of leadership would be beneficial, however, and that it would be critical for the next President to have a mandate from UBC Okanagan as well as UBC Vancouver. President Piper expressed her appreciation for the support from colleagues at both campuses.

The President stated that her future plans remained uncertain. In order to dispel rumors about the reasons for her decision, President Piper stated that she was not ill, and had plans neither to run for political office nor to accept a position as president of another institution.

TRIP TO ASIA

The President described her recent trip to China, Hong Kong, and Korea. While in Shanghai, a UBC delegation attended the Universitas 21 annual general meeting hosted by Fudan University. In Hong Kong, the President attended the official opening of the UBC Asia Pacific Regional Office, the goal of which was to further enhance UBC’s profile in the Asia Pacific Region, to promote UBC’s strengths, and to attract new partners, donors and students. UBC was the first Canadian university to develop a presence of this magnitude in Hong Kong. In Seoul, President Piper was one of 82 university presidents to participate... in a global forum to commemorate the centennial anniversary of Korea University (KU). The President noted that KU was a significant strategic partner to UBC. The KU-UBC Joint Academic Program had been created in 2001 with the goal of facilitating cultural exchange and enhancing academic cooperation between the two universities.

Remarks from the Deputy Vice-Chancellor and Related Questions

Deputy Vice-Chancellor McBride announced that UBC was to officially take possession of the North Kelowna Campus on July 1, 2005. Keys and good wishes were scheduled to be exchanged at opening ceremonies on July 4. Additional celebrations were planned for the first week of classes in September 2005, including two days of student orientation and campus opening activities collectively entitled “Create UBC Okanagan.”

FACULTY RECRUITMENT

Deputy Vice-Chancellor McBride gave an update on faculty recruitment activities. He had been impressed by the quality of the applicant pool in both of the two major hiring rounds to date. Some newly hired faculty members were just beginning their careers, while others had joined the University at the rank of associate professor. Searches were also underway to fill the positions of:

- Associate Vice-President, Academic & Research;
- Associate Vice-President, Students;
- Dean, Faculty of Management; and
- Dean, Faculty of Health & Social Development.

CAMPUS CONSTRUCTION

Deputy Vice-Chancellor McBride noted that the Arts and Science Buildings were both under construction to add a third floor to each building. Although the target completion date remained September 1, 2005, the Deputy Vice-Chancellor expressed some uncertainty about whether all of the necessary work would be completed by that date.
Reports from the deputy Vice-Chancellor

UBC OKANAGAN ACADEMIC PLAN

Note: The full text of this report is not included in the Minutes. Copies are available from the Assistant Registrar, Senate & Curriculum Services.

The Deputy Vice-Chancellor invited Dr. Quayle to speak to the UBC Okanagan Academic Plan. Dr. Quayle circulated for information a draft version of UBC Okanagan: A Community of Excellence, explaining that a revised version would be presented for approval in the fall of 2005. Dr. Quayle stated that the impressive level of participation in the development of the Academic Plan reflected the spirit and passion of the community.

PROCESS AND TIMELINE

An Academic Plan Working Group, a sub-set of the UBC Okanagan Academic Advisory Council, had been working with the Okanagan University College and UBC communities to forge an academic plan for UBC Okanagan. The process had begun in the spring of 2004 with wide consultation. Okanagan University College community members joined in groups of eight to 12 to form “University Circles.” More than 50 such Circles, representing a wide variety of topics, conducted public forums and recorded their respective visions. This information had been combined with the results of external community forums to produce the UBC Okanagan IdeaBook. The IdeaBook had formed the basis for further consultation and “mini-projects” on areas of particular interest, beginning in September 2004, leading up to the release of the first draft of the Academic Plan in December 2004. Dr. Quayle noted that there had been significant changes between the first draft and the present document.

The document was divided into four parts:

1. Vision, Mission, Imperatives, Pathways;
2. Priority Actions;
3. Additional Actions; and

Dr. Quayle noted that the Core Team for the Academic Plan had decided not to assign numbers to the Priority Actions so as not to imply any particular ranking in importance. Items identified as Priority Actions could be accomplished, in most cases, within the following five-year period. Longer-term actions or those requiring further exploration were grouped together as Additional Actions.

DISCUSSION

A member predicted success for UBC Okanagan, but noted that the implementation of the Academic Plan could be affected by a lack of physical space. Dr. Quayle agreed that space constituted a significant challenge and stated that, although it would be appropriate to include a statement about physical space in the Academic Plan, this issue was to be addressed more fully by the Campus Plan.

Dean Isaacson complimented the Core Team on a fabulous document. He asked whether it would be possible to include more language about the need to graduate students from professional programs. Dr. Quayle replied that, although the focus on professional programs had been increased in the document, it could further emphasized.

Dean Isaacson noted that UBC Okanagan was to undergo a massive expansion over the coming years, and asked how the views of new stakeholders might be incorporated into the Academic Plan as it evolved. Dean Quayle agreed that ongoing consultation would be critical. Although the document established a framework for the following five years, a rigorous review would be necessary approximately every 18 months.

In response to a question from the President about next steps in the Plan’s development, Dr. Quayle stated that IAGB members were welcome to submit comments and ideas. Dr.
Quayle hoped to have a revised document for proposed endorsement by the Okanagan Senate by October 2005.

The President thanked Dr. Quayle and everyone who had participated in the development of the draft Academic Plan, and stated that she looked forward to further discussion.

UBC OKANAGAN CAMPUS PLAN

Dr. Quayle presented an overview of the draft UBC Okanagan Campus Plan. She introduced lead consultants Ms. Marta Farevaag and Mr. Greg Smallenberg of Phillips Farevaag Smallenberg, a community planning, urban design and landscape architectural firm. Other consultants included engineering and architectural firms Stantec and Kuwabara Payne McKenna Blumberg. Ms. Farevaag and Mr. Smallenberg gave an overview of the planning and design principles for the UBC Okanagan campus.

PLANNING PRINCIPLES:

- Integrate the campus into the Iconic Okanagan landscape;
- Represent the Aboriginal People’s Use of the Land;
- Protect and Expand the Campus Land Base for Long-term Growth;
- Demonstrate Sustainable Best Practices;
- Provide a Hierarchy of Outdoor and Indoor Social Spaces that Encourage Social Interaction;
- Ensure Comprehensive Universal Access;
- Work with Financial Realities;
- Plan for Landscape Development in the Budgeting Process;
- Give Physical Expression of the UBC O Academic Plan and Trek 2010;
- Integrate Campus Development with Its Neighbours to Ensure that Kelowna and Other Okanagan Communities are Welcomed on Campus;
- Co-locate New Recreational and Cultural Faculties on Campus in an Area that is Recognizable as a Campus Precinct and Convenient to the Surrounding Community;
- Locate New Research Facilities Toward the Northeast Quadrant of Campus to Anticipate Links to Private Research, High Tech, and Related Commercial Development in the Vicinity of the Airport Gateway;
- Co-locate the New Student Services Facility and Other Campus Social Facilities to Maximize Synergies among Activities.
DESIGN PRINCIPLES:
• Define, Protect, and Manage Key Views;
• Utilize a Palette of Local and Appropriate Materials and Site Furnishings to Unify the Campus;
• Strive for Light and Transparency
• Provide for Public Art, Community Events, and Commemorations;
• Place Buildings to Create the Edges of Open Spaces
• Orchestrate an Aesthetic and Welcoming Entry Experience onto the Campus from All Entry Points;
• Integrate and Upgrade Campus Assets;
• Design for a Sense of Security, Safety, and Belonging.

The draft Campus Plan divided the campus into a number of “precincts:”
• Core;
• Commons;
• Hilltown;
• Health, Wellness, Recreation;
• Iconic Okanagan Landscape;
• Productive Landscape;
• Research Forest; and
• Reserve.

Preliminary plans identified a primary spine, a secondary spine, a green corridor, and pedestrian links.

A student representative raised the issue of mixed-use spaces possibly conflicting with the need for quiet study, particularly in residences, and noted that building plan seemed cramped.

Ms. Farevaag stated that the long-term plan was to remove the current surface parking lots and replace them with underground parking or surface lots further from the campus core. There had been discussion about the need for bicycle paths, bicycle storage, and shower facilities, as well as difficulties associated with cycling along the highway adjacent to campus. There was discussion about the use of the rail corridor for commuter cyclists.
In response to a query from a student representative about community consultation on the draft Campus Plan, Ms. Farevaag stated that an open house was scheduled to take place in June 2005.

Dr. Quayle thanked Ms. Farevaag and Mr. Smallenberg for their presentation. She emphasized that more information would be made available as the Campus Plan evolved.

Procedure Committee

Dean Isaacson presented the reports, as Chair of the Committee.

Organization of Academic Units

The Committee had circulated the following report.

Establishment of Academic Structure

The University Act has been amended so that, effective September 1, 2005, the University will continue to be a single corporate entity, but will be composed of the Board of Governors, the Chancellor, the convocation, the UBC Okanagan Senate, the UBC Vancouver Senate, the Council of Senates, and the Faculties.

Pending the creation of the UBC Okanagan Senate, the existing Senate of the University has created a committee known as the Interim Academic Governing Body of UBC Okanagan and has delegated to that committee the power and authority to deal with such matters as would otherwise be under the sole authority of the existing Senate but that will come under the authority of the UBC Okanagan Senate.

Section 3.1 of the University Act as amended provides that the Board of Governors must specify the parts of the University for which the UBC Okanagan Senate will have responsibility for academic governance and powers under section 37 of the Act.

The Board of Governors is expected to pass a Resolution establishing Dual-Campus Faculties, which will be Faculties associated with both UBC Okanagan and UBC Vancouver, but having a UBC Okanagan Division and a UBC Vancouver Division. The establishment of Dual-Campus Faculties by the Board will require a recommendation from both the UBC Okanagan Senate and the UBC Vancouver Senate.
In the near term, the Faculty of Applied Science is the only Faculty that is planning to offer programs at both campuses, to have faculty members employed at both campuses, and to have students registered in programs at both campuses.

DISCUSSION

There was discussion about the rationale for English residing within the Faculty of Creative and Critical Studies, rather than in the Faculty of Arts and Science. Dean Belton explained that the advanced study of English comprised both creative and critical activities, similarly to the fine arts, and that it made sense to undertake both activities in the same Faculty.

   Moved, Dean Isaacson
   Seconded, Dean Belton

   That the IAGB adopt the 2005/2006 Elections Regulations, as circulated.

Dean Isaacson clarified that this set of regulations was intended to apply to the first set of elections, but would not necessarily apply to future elections. Several typographic errors in the document were corrected (corrections included in the above version).

Mr. Sutch expressed concern about the membership of the Board of Governors as stipulated in the University Act, and stated a preference for equal representation for each of the Vancouver and Okanagan campuses.
In response to a query, Dean Isaacson and the President confirmed that the IAGB could amend the elections regulations as it saw fit, through a motion passed by a simple majority.

The motion was put and carried.

UBC OKANAGAN REPRESENTATIVES TO THE PRESIDENTIAL SEARCH COMMITTEE

The Procedure Committee had circulated the following report.

The following two motions are proposed to allow a representative of the Joint Faculties from UBC Okanagan, and a representative from the Interim Academic Governing Body to be elected to serve on the Presidential Search Committee. It is the desire of the Chancellor that these elections and appointments be completed by June 1st. As such, a second clause is included in each motion to declare the person elected appointed, as the requested date for this Committee to be formed will be before the next proposed meeting of the IAGB.

Deputy Vice-Chancellor McBride explained that separate elections were underway for student and staff representatives to the Presidential Search Committee, and that Dean Belton had been appointed as a representative of the UBC Okanagan Deans.

The motion was put and carried.
In response to a question from Mr. Koovisk, Dean Isaacson responded that the elected IAGB representative could be any voting member of the IAGB. In response to a question from Mr. Haffey, Ms. Collins stated that any necessary membership changes for the Presidential Search Committee would be considered by the Management Resources and Compensation Committee of the Board of Governors.

Deputy Vice-Chancellor McBride advised that serving on the Presidential Search Committee entailed a significant time commitment, including early morning and weekend meetings.

The motion was put and carried.

SUMMER 2005 DELEGATION OF IAGB AUTHORITY

Dean Isaacson reported that the Procedure Committee was not yet certain whether there was sufficient business to merit scheduling a June 2005 meeting of the full IAGB, and noted that there would be scheduling challenges for any prospective date in June. He noted, however, the existence of curriculum and other proposals before Academic Direction Committee that would require approval for inclusion in the Calendar or implementation prior to September 2005.

Moved, Dean Isaacson
Seconded, Principal Gilbert

That the IAGB delegate to its Procedure Committee the authority to provide interim approvals for matters that may be brought forward to it prior to September 2005 by the Academic Direction Committee or otherwise, subject to these matters also being brought to the next meeting of the IAGB for confirmation of interim approvals.

In response to a question from the President, Dean Isaacson confirmed that the passing of the motion did not preclude scheduling a June IAGB meeting. He cited new graduate programs for implementation in September 2005 as examples of items requiring interim approval.

Mr. Haffey spoke against the motion, expressing the opinion that it would be a dangerous precedent to delegate full authority to a relatively small committee.

Dr. McCullough cited the common law rule “delegatus non potest delegare.” Since the Senate had delegated its authority to the IAGB, he suggested that the IAGB could not delegate further.

In response to a question from Dean Krank, Dean Isaacson stated that although there was no specified minimum amount of business necessary to call a meeting, the Procedure Committee would ultimately make the decision based on the number, complexity, and urgency of submitted agenda items.

Deputy Vice-Chancellor McBride suggested that the Procedure Committee circulate electronically to the full IAGB any proposals under consideration, to allow IAGB members to express any concerns prior to the granting of interim approval. Dean Isaacson accepted the suggestion as a friendly amendment.

In amendment (amendment in bold),

Moved, Dean Isaacson
Seconded, Dr. Gilbert

That the IAGB delegate to its Procedure Committee the authority to provide interim approvals for matters that may be brought forward to it prior to September 2005 by the Academic Direction Committee or otherwise, subject to:

1. The Procedure Committee circulating electronically to all IAGB members any such proposals prior to the granting of interim approval; and

2. These matters also being brought to the next meeting of the IAGB for confirmation of interim approvals.

Dr. Quayle noted that the Campus Plan was moving ahead on an aggressive timeline, with the goal of submission to the Board of Governors in July 2005. She was hopeful that the Procedure Committee would see fit to schedule a June IAGB meeting to allow the IAGB to see the revised version of the Plan. Deputy Vice-Chancellor McBride agreed.

Academic Direction Committee

See also “Appendix A: Summary of Programs for Approval.”

Dr. Salhani presented the reports, as Chair of the Committee. He reported that the Committee had met three times, and that it had approved a very significant amount of material in preparation for the present meeting. He noted that there remained some necessary typographic and editorial corrections to the curriculum materials, and that Faculties... would be given an opportunity to proofread their program and course information prior to publication in the Calendar.

Moved, Dr. Salhani
Seconded, Mr. Haffey

\{ \text{That the proposals listed as agenda items 7(a) through 7(e) be approved, with such approval subject to editorial correction.} \}

The agenda items in question were the chapters of the UBC Okanagan Calendar titled:

- 7 (a) Academic Year;
- 7 (b) Admissions;
- 7 (c) Establishment and Constitution;
- 7 (d) Policies and Regulations; and
- 7 (e) Faculties and Schools.

In response to a question about whether it would cause any difficulty to have students in the Faculty of Creative & Critical Studies (FCCS) awarded a Bachelor of Arts, Dean Belton stated that he had discussed this and related issues with Dean Bauer and that there appeared to be no problem. Dean Belton added that, although FCCS planned to offer both the Bachelor of Arts and the Bachelor of Fine Arts, FCCS could not independently make any changes to the basic Bachelor of Arts degree requirements.

Mr. Sutch referred to the statement in the Calendar chapter on Policies and Regulations that stipulated that the University reserved the right to change fees without notice. The student asked whether it would be possible to require at least 30 days notice. Mr. Silzer responded that, although there is no official deadline for notification of students when fees were to be increased, current practice involved broad consultation undertaken by the Vice-President, Students. Such consultation usually took place over several months, with students receiving plenty of notice about the University’s intentions with respect to tuition and other fees prior to formal decision making.
In amendment (new text in bold),

Moved, Dr. Salhani
Seconded, Mr. Haffey

That the proposals listed as agenda items 7(a) through 7(e) be approved, with such approval subject to editorial correction; and

That the Master of Science in Environmental Sciences, the Doctor of Philosophy in Environmental Sciences, the Master of Arts in Education and Master of Education, which had been inadvertently omitted from the items circulated, be added to the list of programs for approval.

The amended motion was put and carried.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

Moved, Dr. Salhani
Seconded, Mr. Koovisk

That the list of course descriptions circulated as agenda item 7(f): Course Descriptions be approved; and

That the circulated list be amended to include courses associated with the Master of Science in Environmental Sciences, the Doctor of Philosophy in Environmental Sciences, the Master of Arts in Education, and the Master of Education; and

That all course approvals be subject to editorial correction by Enrolment Services in consultation with the Faculties.

Deputy Vice-Chancellor McBride noted that most of the courses before the IAGB had already been approved by the OUC Education Council.

STUDENT PETITION ON LATIN LANGUAGE COURSES

Two student visitors requested permission to present a petition signed by 104 students concerned about the apparent decision to not offer Latin language courses. The students noted that many students were reliant on a Latin language course to meet a classical language requirement for their programs. The President asked that the students’ comments be reflected in the IAGB Minutes, and suggested that the Academic Direction Committee might be prepared to receive a submission from the students on this issue. The President also clarified that the motion before the assembly was to approve courses and their descriptions without reference to whether a given course would be offered in the following academic year.

The motion was put and carried.

Report from the Associate Vice-President, Enrolment Services & Registrar

ORAL REPORT ON REGISTRATION

Mr. Silzer gave an overview of student recruitment, admissions, and registration preparation activities. Approximately 75% of the UBC Okanagan applicants to date had come from BC high-school students. A significant portion of those applicants were from the southeast quadrant of British Columbia. Enrolment Services was evaluating applications on a competitive basis, and Mr. Silzer noted the time-intensive nature of this process.

People across UBC Okanagan were working to prepare for the opening of student registration for 2005/2006 courses. The first group of students were scheduled to register on June 16, 2005, with the completion of the course schedule prior to the registration open date noted as a major dependency.

In response to a question from Dean Belton about the yield rate for returning OUC students, Mr. Silzer stated that he could only offer rough estimates for this first admissions cycle. For the Vancouver campus, four applications usually yielded two offers of admission, which in turn yielded one registered student (calculations based on first program choice only). It remained uncertain how closely this ratio would apply to the UBC Okanagan context. Mr. Silzer promised that more information would be made available in the following months.

Adjournment

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned. There was no fixed date or time for the following meeting.
