A series of consultations was planned to take place over the following nine months, and the senates were to be among the consultants. Focus groups and town hall meetings were also planned. Approximately 20 other working groups were underway, and there would be opportunities to integrate findings from these other processes into the strategic plan. The President reiterated the need to link the strategic plan to the University budget. He drew attention to the strategic planning website at: www.strategicplan.ubc.ca .

NCAA CONSULTATION AND CANADIAN INTERUNIVERSITY SPORT

The President gave a brief update on the consultation process regarding a potential UBC application for membership in the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). A report summarizing the consultation was due to be received by a committee co-chaired by Dean Daniel Muzyka and Associate Vice-President Marie Earl. The committee was expected to issue a report containing its recommendations in January 2009.

The President also reported that Canadian university presidents had recently been engaged in a discussion about possible changes to the existing Canadian Interuniversity Sport association.

UNIVERSITY OMBUDSPERSON

The President was pleased to report that UBC had recently placed first among Canadian post-secondary institutions and third overall in the College Sustainability Report Card, an initiative of the Sustainable Endowments Institute. Based in Cambridge, Massachusetts, the Sustainability Endowments Institute is a non-profit organization funded by the Rockefeller Philanthropy Advisors. The organization had surveyed 300 universities and colleges in the U.S. and Canada on their sustainability activities.

CHANCELLOR SARAH MORGAN-SILVESTER

The President introduced Chancellor Sarah Morgan-Silvester, who was attending her first Senate meeting since having been elected and beginning her term. Chancellor Morgan-Silvester stated that she was delighted to take up her new role and that she eagerly anticipated her installation, which was scheduled to take place during the following week.

RELATED QUESTIONS FROM SENATORS

UBC FARM

Mr. Frederick made reference to a recent decision by the Metro Vancouver board to call upon UBC to protect the size of the UBC farm at its current size of 24 hectares. Mr. Frederick asked the President to comment on what this decision signalled about governance at UBC.

The President responded that he saw no connection between the Metro Vancouver decision and UBC governance because no one at UBC had proposed an imminent change to the size or purpose of the farm. He stated that early discussions about the farm had originated with the former Greater Vancouver Regional District process to establish an Official Community Plan (OCP) for UBC. The OCP designated the land occupied by the UBC Farm as one of three Future Housing Reserves on the Point Grey campus. Before constructing housing on a Future Housing Reserve, the University would need to verify that the land was not required for academic use. The UBC Farm had been included in the OCP process to ensure that its needs were firmly considered in land use planning decisions. The President stated that it was clear that the farm remained important to the University community and beyond. He had received a petition from Friends of the UBC Farm containing approximately 15 000 signatures.

The President emphasized that the UBC Board of Governors had not yet considered any options in relation to the UBC Farm. No decision had been taken that would indicate that the farm was under threat. Although there had been some discussion about the current scale of the farm, not a single person had argued against the continued existence of a farm. There had been suggestions that the land represented an opportunity to construct a new kind of sustainable housing development, perhaps focusing on rental student housing. Others had expressed the view that the farm should be protected in its current exact state. While many different viewpoints had been expressed, there was no decision pending.

Because of the continued interest in the topic, the President planned to recommend that the Board of Governors expedite its consideration of the status of the farm. If the Board were to accept this recommendation, preliminary discussions would take place at the November 2008 Board meeting. The January 2009 Board meeting would be the earliest possible opportunity to reach a decision. In the interim period, active discussion with all stakeholders would continue.

Dr. Windsor-Liscombe thanked the President for his clarification of the matter. He recalled that all three options included in Phase 4 of the recent UBC Vancouver Campus Plan process had included the farm in our thinking about futures for the Point Grey campus. Urban agriculture and community garden allotments were two themes that had been proposed, and Dr. Windsor-Liscombe agreed that they were worthy of exploration. The President stated that Campus and Community Planning had issued the three options based on the ideas generated during a consultation process. He noted, however, that these would not necessarily be the options ultimately recommended to the Board of Governors for approval.

The President expressed disappointment that the Metro Vancouver board had reached its decision about the UBC Farm in the absence of discussion with the University.

Candidates for Degrees and Diplomas

The Secretary had prepared a list of 2821 candidates for degrees and diplomas. Of the graduating class, 62 percent were female and 38 percent were male.

DISCUSSION

Dr. Hall recalled some discussion at a recent meeting of the Graduate Council about the University's ability to sustain the funding of chairs. Vice-President Farrar recalled making comments at Graduate Council about the relatively high spend rate on the University's endowment. He had been surprised to learn that the rate had been set at five percent, and felt it would be necessary to decrease it by at least one percentage point over the long term to ensure protection of principal funds. The Vice-President stated that he would encourage awareness within the University community of the current state of the endowment and the extent of activities that were endowment-supported. He added that the particular chair under consideration was well funded.

Dr. Young indicated that a candidate for the new chair had been identified and would transition from an appointment as a clinical professor. President Toohey pointed out that new chairs must not be considered "faits accomplis" until after approval by both the Senate and the Board.

The motion was put and carried.

Report from the Associate Vice-President, Enrolment Services & Registrar

In the absence of the Associate Vice-President, Enrolment Services & Registrar, Ms. Collins delivered the report.

2008 REPORT ON ENROLMENT

Ms. Collins indicated that the Registrar would welcome questions on any of the reports included in the package. If those questions could not be answered at the meeting, she offered to bring responses to the December 2008 meeting of the Senate.

DISCUSSION

Questions posed by Senators included the following:

1. Question: Admission averages are quite high overall. How does the University feel about that?

Response: President Toope stated that UBC ranked roughly fifth among Canadian universities with respect to admission competitiveness. Faculties such as Medicine and Commerce & Business Administration had undertaken broader based admission practices in order to consider criteria other than grades. Vice-President Farrar noted the recent establishment of a Strategic Enrolment Management Committee to consider issues related to building the best possible class. He noted that the cut-off for admission to the Bachelor of Commerce program was at 84 percent after evaluation of supplementary applications. In the absence of the supplementary application, the cut-off would have been approximately 93 percent. In this example, the application of broader based admission had had a positive effect for hundreds of students. He added that it would be important to ensure that broader based admission principles were consistently applied across programs.

Vice-President Farrar noted that the Vancouver campus was at its enrolment capacity, and that the University admitted as many top students as it could each year without over-enrolling. This resulted in relatively high admission cut-offs. He noted that other institutions in the province admitted at lower averages, providing important access opportunities for BC students.

2. Question: UBC has a long record of admitting college transfer students. Will this change with the establishment of five new special purpose teaching universities in the province?

Response: Dr. Farrar stated that the University could expect to continue to receive significant numbers of transfer students from Langara College and Douglas College. The number of transfer students from the new universities (formerly colleges) was expected to decline as these institutions focused on retaining more students to degree completion.

3. Question: What enrolment changes might the University expect over the next decade?

Response: Dr. Farrar stated that the number of eligible students was expected to shrink substantially across the country. While UBC remained fortunate to have a very strong applicant pool, other BC institutions were already experiencing difficulty in meeting enrolment targets. In Ontario, the Greater Toronto Area appeared to be holding steady while the applicant pool from rural areas had declined. UBC had worked to increase enrolment from outside BC, which was currently at approximately 14 per cent.

President Toope added that two groups in particular were known to statistically under-enroll in post-secondary education: children of parents without post-secondary education and aboriginal students. It was important to consider changes to the K-12 system to better position these groups for successful admission to UBC.

4. Question: Page 21 of the Report indicates that admission averages would be recalibrated in light of the policy change to no longer require BC provincial examinations as admission requirements. What does this mean?

Response: Ms. Collins indicated that while she did not know the answer to the question, the Admissions Committee had been charged with ongoing monitoring of the new policy and would be able to address this question and others as part of a future report to Senate.

5. Question: How successful is UBC with respect to attracting international students?

Response: President Toope stated that UBC and other Canadian universities did not traditionally fare as well as other countries that had invested more heavily in student recruitment. UBC's International Student Initiative was regarded internationally, however, as very successful. UBC had had relatively low success rates in attracting non-BC Canadian students, which led to the creation of a National Enrolment Strategy.

6. Question: Are UBC Okanagan admission requirements comparable to those at UBC Vancouver?

Response: President Toope stated that the Okanagan requirements were comparable to those in Vancouver but not identical.

Each candidate was exceptionally distinguished in at least one of the following four categories: business/industry, academia, fine and performing arts, and public service.

PREVIOUSLY-APPROVED AWARDS WITH CHANGES IN TERMS OR FUNDING SOURCE:

Award 03963 – Mary Campbell Women’s Athletic Award (revised description): One or more awards, which may range from a minimum value of $500 each to the maximum allowable under athletic association regulations, are offered to outstanding members of the Thunderbird Women’s Basketball Team in any year of study. Awards are made on the recommendation of the President’s Athletic Awards Committee to outstanding students who have demonstrated excellent leadership skills and maintained good academic standing.

How amended: The previous description included the following additional restriction, which proved to be so narrow that it prevented the award from being given out in most years: “Half of each year's awards are granted to outstanding student athletes on the Thunderbird Women's Basketball Team who are majoring in Physical Education and half are granted to female student athletes who are majoring in English.” The quoted restriction has now been deleted with the donor’s permission.

Award 04425 – Simba Technologies Award in Computer Science (revised description): Awards totalling $500 have been endowed by the Shiraz Rajan Family, who came to Canada in 1973 from East Africa. Three of the Rajan children, Tazim, Aymnmohamed and Salima, attended university in British Columbia in the 1980's and 1990's. In the family tradition, the Rajan Family wished to give back to The University of British Columbia in particular and the Canadian community in general. The awards are made on the recommendation of the Department of Computer Science to outstanding full-time undergraduate students in the Computer Science Program who have demonstrated outstanding community service, with preference to female candidates.

How amended: This is a change to the award title only (the former title was Orbital Technologies Award in Computer Science). The terms of the award remain unchanged.

The endowment which supports this award is called the “Shiraz Rajan Family Endowment Fund” and so there is no legal impediment to amending the award title as requested by the donors.

Award 04632 – Don Wehrung International Student Humanitarian Award (revised description): Awards totalling $45,000 have been endowed in honour of Dr. Donald A. Wehrung on the occasion of his stepping down as the founding Executive Director of UBC’s International Student Initiative, in which capacity he served from 1996 to 2008. The awards recognize outstanding international students from developing countries who have achieved academic excellence under exigent circumstances and would be unable to pursue post-secondary education without assistance. Candidates for the award are nominated by secondary schools, as well as by international, community-based and non-governmental organizations. The value of each award depends on the candidate's financial circumstances and the costs of their program. The awards are made to students entering the University directly from secondary school and may be renewed for up to three additional years of undergraduate study or to degree completion, whichever is less, provided the recipient achieves satisfactory academic standing as determined by his or her Faculty, holds a valid Canadian Study Permit (student visa), and continues to demonstrate financial need. The awards are made on the recommendation of a selection committee comprised of faculty and staff from across the University, with input from members of the community.

How amended: This is a variation in the name of the award from “International Student Humanitarian Award Endowment Fund” to the “Donald Wehrung International Student Humanitarian Award Endowment Fund” to honour Mr. Wehrung on the occasion of his stepping down as the founding Executive Director of UBC's International Student Initiative. The terms of the award itself remain unchanged.
